in difficulty losing weight, chronic infections, fatigue, and a wide variety of other conditions that we will ask to the youngsters to recount their future, to imagine what sort of adult they would like to became and what sort of society they would like to build all together